( I provided a copy of this page that also gives you tips on how to fill in the page.  I also provided a blank copy of this page for you to use to write your rough draft.)
 10. Type the requested information in each box.
 11. Click on add a page if you need more room to type your article.
 12. Click on the purple Finish button in the top right corner in order to PRINT your article.
-  YOU CAN NOT SAVE YOUR WORK ON THIS SITE (I could not figure out how to save it easily), so be ready to type the entire article in one sitting. This is why we are NOT typing the article during class time.
13. Once your article is printed, draw a picture or paste a photo in the large rectangle empty box. Be sure your picture enhances and relates to your article.

REMEMBER: Using my computer, I modeled how to use this site in class.

You do not have to use this site to type your article. However, the format of your final typed article has to resemble “the look” of a magazine or newspaper article. I gave you a copy of a sample interview article, Newsweek: Generation 9/11, that shows you a sample format and includes an article to guide you in the writing of your article.
